PLAINTIFF'S THIRD INTERROGATORIES

Comes now Plaintiff David Stebbins, who hereby submits the following interrogatory to the Defendant:

6. You denied that I was disabled, yet you still claim that you provided reasonable accommodations. Please state, in detail, what you were actually attempting to accommodate. If you did not perceive me as disabled, then what were the accommodations there for? Also, why give them to me, and only me, instead of applying them to everyone (keep in mind, an "accommodation," in the context of ADA law, means a special thing that you don't give to everybody. If everybody got big text lettering, just so that you won't have to do anything more for the vision impaired, that's not an accommodation. The same applies to using cell phone text messaging for communications, in the even that you just happen to end up hiring a deaf person. Since it applies to everyone, it is not an accommodation).

You have until February 22, 2011 to respond to this interrogatory.
